

DOLLS, DOLLS NEGRO DOLLS

An Opportunity is Given to Every Negro Family to Secure a Beautiful Negro Doll for Their Girls.

An exhibit of these dolls is now at the Nashville Globe Office. The public is invited to call at the Globe office and see these dolls, and get the prices on the same. There are four sizes. The most beautiful collection that has ever been seen in Nashville.

The fact that the Colored Dolls have reached this city, and that hundreds of families will get them in their homes within the next three months is true beyond a doubt. Take your child to the Globe office in the Odd Fellows' Hall Building, 447 Fourth Avenue, North, (North Cherry) and see these beautiful toys. There will be a clerk in the Globe office who will give full information concerning these dolls. Those who can not get to the Globe Office will be given an opportunity to see the same assortment of dolls by calling at the National Baptist Publishing Board, 523 Second Avenue, North, (North Market). They will be given the same exhibition with full information.

Orders for these dolls should be placed at once, as they must be shipped from the factory. Do you want one for your child? If so, call at either of the two above named places. If you can not call, write for prices and pictures to the

NEGRO DOLL COMPANY

523 Second Avenue, North, or 447 Fourth Avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.

These toys are not made of that disgraceful and humiliating type that we have been accustomed to seeing black dolls made of. They represent the intelligent and refined Negro of to-day, rather than that type of toy that is usually given to the children, and as a rule used as a scarecrow. These toys are placed in the city and at the disposal of the people that they may teach their children how to look upon their people.

The Lilac Embroidery Club met at the residence of Mrs. George Haley, No. 31 Edgehill avenue, one afternoon this week. The house was tastefully decorated. After about one hour's work the ladies were invited to the dining-room, where a two-course menu was served. The ladies were served with punch as they entered the room. Those present were Mrs. P. A. Washington, Matt Johnson, Sidney Bonds, Lawrence Moore, George Haley, W. H. Mosely, John Jennings, Alonza Whitaker, T. G. Watkins, John Barnes. The club will meet with Mrs. John Jennings, 1013 Hawkins street, on Monday evening, August 31, 1908, at 3 p. m.

H. T. G. M. NOTES.

Miss Minnie M. Hunter, of Hynes street, entertained the members of the H. T. G. M. Club Saturday, August 22, in a most delightful manner. Perhaps never have there been so many charming visitors present with the club in their regular meetings as there were on last Saturday, most of whom were among the married set. Seemingly the young ladies are vying with each other as to the selection of literary games to substitute for whist these very warm days. Indeed whist is beginning to be a thing of the past. Miss Bessie Martin won the prize in the guessing game played, and Miss Harriet Caruthers the consolation. The dining-room table was laden with most delicious eatables, and all seemed to enjoy themselves immensely. The next meeting will be at the home of Miss John D. Thompson.

A PARLOR CONCERT.

Nashville society was given a rare treat on last Wednesday evening in the form of a parlor concert given at the residence of Dr. Josie E. Wells, Second avenue, South, in honor of Miss Fox, of New York. The talent that was present on this occasion has never been equalled on a social program—in fact, not since the last big program rendered by the Wednesday evening Musical, has such a rare treat been given to such a large number of the society-going people. The evening was most pleasantly spent. Those who volunteered to serve on the program seemed to have been prompted solely by a desire to make the evening an enjoyable one. The numbers consisted of vocal and instrumental solos and duets and special readings. It has often been said that Nashville has more talent to the square inch than any city of its size in the South. In fact, her place in the profession would be hard to fill by another city. This was evidenced on Wednesday evening. Aside from the special numbers rendered the guests for the occasion were a notable gathering. The home of Dr. Wells, spacious as it is, was beautifully arranged and the front parlor was the scene of this excellent program. Every available place in the parlor and the spacious halls was filled. The rendering of such a program was only made possible by the fact that much of the talent that is usually away from the city was here winding up their summer vacation, and this occurred just on the eve of their departure to the various schools and other institutions. Miss Fox was given an opportunity to see the great number of young men and women able to take their places along with others hailing from this city, who have made their names famous.
